

Parts of Speech

Parts of Speech FOLDABLE!

This foldable will help you learn the parts of speech and their jobs.

Take out one piece of notebook paper with the holes intact and follow the

Foldable Instructions

1. Fold your piece of notebook paper hotdog style to the red line, so that the margin with holes is on your left.
2. Now fold the paper in half hamburger style. Crease it well.
3. Fold in half hamburger style again. Crease well.
4. Fold in half (in the same direction) one

5. Place one hand between the folded hot dog and cut the creases on the right side

When you are finished, you should have eight flaps that fold out to the right.

○	Parts of Speech
	verb noun pronoun
○	adjective
	adverb conjunction
○	preposition

Close all the flaps so you can write the part of speech on the outside of the right flaps as they are shown here.

Top flap: Parts of Speech

2nd flap: verb

3rd flap: noun

4th flap: pronoun

5th flap: adjective

6th flap: adverb

Now write the job, or definition, of each part of speech on the left side of your foldable and an example on the inside of the right flap as the definitions and examples appear on the next slides.

(In your example, underline the word that is the part of

Verb: shows action or state of being

- Action: Ms. Stewart fished all summer

- State of being: Lowe is happy.

Noun: person, place, thing, quality or idea

- Person: Ms. Morgan likes spinach.
- Place: Kealing is great.
- Thing: Ms. Roy owns many games.
- Quality: Honesty is a great value to possess.

Pronoun: takes the place of a noun

- She likes to eat spinach.

Adjective: describes a noun

- The brilliant students balanced the national budget.

- The strange stretches in yoga  look like pretzels.

Adverb: describes a verb

- Sixth graders worked happily on their grammar.

- The puppies hungrily ate the food.

Conjunctions: words that join words,
phrases or sentences

- Hannah and Alex love to cook.
- Please study Greek, or study Latin.
- I am happy because my students are respectful.
- It's been cloudy since morning.

Common conjunctions

FANBOYS

- For
- And
- Nor
- But
- Or
- Yet
- So

Preposition: a word that shows the relationship between a noun or pronoun and another part of the sentence.

- The cat was on the table.
- The dog was under the table.

These are some common prepositions:

for on to up
at under above toward